ACKNOWLEDGEMENT AND REFUSAL OF CONDENSATE OVERFLOW AND/OR REFRIGERANT LEAKAGE AND THEFT PROTECTION.

This is to confirm that on .....200., I was informed of the need to protect my home against water damage due to condensate overflow by fitting an overflow switch to the HVAC system prevent leakage, and secondly to deter refrigerant theft from my Air Conditioning system by fitting locking refrigerant caps, and that the contractor offered to install this equipment for me.

This protection would consist firstly of one or more condensate overflow switches which would be installed as part of the condensate drainage system and would operate on a rise of water level to switch off the AC unit and thus indicate that a blockage has occurred.

It would secondly consist of 2 or more locking caps which would be fitted onto the service valves on the condenser and which would stop leaks and deter unauthorized persons from gaining access to the refrigerant for any reason.

In consideration of the above recommended protections, I have decided to decline this opportunity to have the recommended protection devices installed.

I understand that any damages resulting from a condensate overflow or from leaks or the theft of refrigerant from my AC system are not covered by the manufacturers or contractors warranty and I assume full and complete responsibility for these damages if and when they occur.

I also agree to hold the installing contractor harmless and free of obligation in accordance with my decision.
